Beal Charms Miners

Miss Evelyn Beal, Metropolitan Opera contralto, was featured at a convocation at the Montana School of Mines, Wednesday, March 11.

The gracious contralto, known to concert audiences from coast to coast for her magnificent velvet voice, as well as her unique interpretive abilities, is on an extensive tour of the West. Miss Beal's program consisted of many selections ranging from Opera to Negro Spirituals. She was accompanied by Eleanor McTucker of Butte.

Miss Beal's artistry is really a triumph for American music. Her training has been by American teachers and coaches; her experience has been gained before American audiences. She is but one of a great and ever-growing number of fine American artists of which the same can be said.

Miss Beal was born in Wichita, Kansas, where her first solo performance took place at the age of six with a junior church choir—she has been singing ever since. Miss Beal is a graduate of the Music School of the University of Michigan, and has earned a Master's degree from the School of Sacred Music of the Union Theological Seminary in New York.

A winner of many musical awards and honors, including one from the National Federation of Music Clubs, Miss Beal has appeared with some of the finest musical organizations of our time, including the Metropolitan Opera Company, the Chicago and Kansas City Symphony Orchestras, Robert Shaw, Margaret Hillis' Concert

Green Gold Is Pumped

A scholarship from the California Company, New Orleans, Louisiana of $500.00 will be awarded to an undergraduate student in the Department of Petroleum Engineering at Montana School of Mines for the year 1959-60.

In announcing the receipt of this award, Dr. Edwin G. Koch, President of Montana School of Mines, also noted that an additional $500.00 will be given by the California Company to the College's Department of Petroleum Engineering for the Department's unrestricted use.

The recipient of the scholarship will be selected by Montana School of Mines Scholarship Committee to a student from among those recommended by Professor Douglas H. Harnish, Jr., head of the Department of Petroleum Engineering, in consultation with Dr. E. N. Dunlap, Division Petroleum Engineer for the California Company's Rocky Mountain Division.

This scholarship will be awarded to an outstanding member of the present junior class in the Department of Petroleum Engineering. Only students of outstanding promise who qualify on a personal as well as a scholastic basis will be considered.

Choir, and the Desoff Choir of New York.

Miss Beal was well accepted by the Mines audience.

Student Engineers To Be Employed

Engineering students from colleges and universities in many parts of the United States and some foreign countries will be going to Alaska again this June to fill in their studies with unique experiences gained in the field with the U. S. Army Engineer District Alaska.

Over 500 student aides have taken advantage of the earning and training program offered during the summer by the Corps of Engineers.

Aides will assist experienced engineers in the design and construction of many defense projects needed by the Army and Air Force; or they may be assigned to the District's civil works program consisting of projects such as harbor development hydroelectric surveys, and flood control work.

Jobs are open to students who have completed their freshman studies in such varied engineering fields as civil, structural, electrical, mechanical, architectural, or allied fields of geology, mining, metallurgy, chemistry or physics.

They will be paid according to their academic status and experience. Transportation will be paid from Seattle to Alaska and return. Student aides are assigned to many jobs connected with the District's huge operation. They may work on a site that can only be reached by plane or they may be assigned to the District's modern headquarters at Anchorage or one of the modern branch offices at Fairbanks or other Alaska cities.

Many of the student aides have returned annually to work during the summers in the District until they graduated and then signed with the District as permanent employees.

Interested applicants can obtain further information from: U. S. Army Engineer District, Alaska, P. O. Box 7002, Anchorage, Alaska.

The Rainmaker Makes Hay

On the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, March 16 and 17, in the Museum Hall of the Montana School of Mines, the Broadway stage success, The Rainmaker, played to a full house.

The setting of this challenging drama of the soil is a time of devastating drought in the midwest. The action concerns the life of a plain girl approaching spinsterhood, whose father and two brothers are as anxious (if not more so) that she find a husband as they are about the specter of drought, the failure of crops, and the thirst-ridden death of their cattle. Without success, it would seem, the brothers concoct plans to marry her off, even to the extent of embroiling one of the brothers in a skirmish with a friend, a deputy marshal of the nearby town, supposedly widowed and through with women.

Then, like the rain so long delayed, appears a roughish and picturesque character, honey-lipped and convincing—at least to those desperate for water. For a fee of $100, this smoothly specious gentleman promises to bring rain within twenty-four hours and persuades the father and two brothers, one very reluctantly, to assist him in his strange incantations to the god of "agua pura."

Too, as the abracadabra of supposed rainmaking is set in operation—the beating of a drum, the painting of white arrows, the tying of a mule's hind legs—the rainmaker exercises his sorcery upon the girl of the family, persuading her to act like a female if she would get a man, finally convincing her that no woman is really plain, but that all women are in special ways beautiful. He at last opens her heart to his siren, discarding imaginatively on the beauties of past ladies, giving her a romantic name instead of the prosaic one she believes is the only name for her—Lizzie. She responds to the spell, despite the dreamless earthiness of her brother Noah, to whom she has always listened, feeling that he only of the family has a firm clutch upon reality. Her father, who has not entirely forgotten romance, also succumbs, believing that this glib magician really can produce the consecrated manna of rain, despite the fact that he actually is "wanted" in various places for his hoaxes.

Finally, the rain does come. Thunder rumbles in the place of the drum, which the younger brother, Jim, has been delegated to beat "every time he gets the feeling". Love also arrives, and Lizzie must make the decision between two men who seek her hand—the rainmaker, Starbuck; and File, the women-shunning deputy sheriff, who asks her not to go with the rainmaker—words which in his pride he could not before utter when his wife "ran away with a schoolteacher". The wanted rainmaker is released from the law, and Lizzie gets her man.

Rain and romance thus replace a life of seeming hopelessness for the ranch—and for Lizzie, who never need again fear "not being asked". The audience applauded this drama so replete with laughter and pathos, with skepticism and hope, with realism and heartfelt yearning. The play has a philosophic appeal to all peoples, in its down-to-earth battle with the elements, in its conflict between a too-stern realism and romance, the latter triumphant.

The Rainmaker featured an able and hardworking cast, as follows: H. C. Curry, the father, Robert Wylie, Bozeman; Noah Curry, the matter-of-fact brother, Albert Rule, Butte; Jim Curry, who gets both Snookie and her little red hat, George Maxwell, Warm Springs; Lizzie Curry, the seemingly predestined old maid, Sandra Lee Maddock, Butte; File, who can finally say, "Don't go!", David Malyevac, Butte; Sheriff Thomas, File's boss, Walter Enderlin, San Francisco; and—not least—Bill Starbuck (alias dictus Bill Smith), William Ross Wayment, Butte.

Directed by William Chance, the play was under the technical supervision of Joseph Duroux. Both men are of the Mines Faculty. Set design and decorations are arranged by Joseph Duroux, Judy Delmoe, Butte, and Mrs. Margaret Kenck; set fabrication, Frank Lavelle and Harry Smith; scene painting, Smiley Seccomb.

Others assisting in production were Johannes Dreyer, Kamieskroon, South Africa; Peter Sween- (Continue on page 4, column 1)

For a better understanding of any controversial issue and for a clearer insight into the thinking of other people, try seeing things from the point of view that others take. You have probably heard this before, but have you ever honestly applied it? It is remarkable how much you can learn—how many new things you see by doing this.

It makes little difference whether the question is one of religion versus atheism, free enterprise versus communism, or national patriotism versus a universal love of humanity. You can use this system for almost any subject about which there are two or more schools of thought.

This practice is not intended to change your point of view. It is merely to broaden your understanding of the particular issue involved. Thereafter, when you do get in a discussion, you will find yourself using facts on which to base your opinions and not being forced to rely upon abstract ideas. Your thinking will be clear and analytic and unmarred by fuzziness. And, in addition to all this, people will classify you as one who thinks for himself. Now what could be more important than this? You do not even have to change your favorite brand of cigarettes and you can still enjoy the reputation of an individual.

Seriously though, the effort is well worth the reward. Give it a try. Choose the other side of a familiar argument and sincerely attempt for a whole week (longer if you can) to think as the other person would. You will see a change in yourself and so will others. Your horizons will widen and you will have fun doing it.

I Must Go Shopping!

One of these days I must go shopping! I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humility, which they say is less expensive and wears better.

I want to look at some tolerance, which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace—we are a little low on that—and one can never have too much of it.

And by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her, and I think might look well on me.

I might try on that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted it, but feel myself coming to it.

Also, I must not forget to have my sense of humor mended. And look around for some inexpensive everyday goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.

Yes, I must go shopping soon!

Five to Rho

Sigma Rho held its annual invitational dinner dance on Sunday, March 1, at the Butte Country Club.

Bob Hoy, archon, introduced Professor Ralph I. Smith, faculty advisor for the fraternity, Dr. Koch, and Professor Emeritus Walter T. Scott, honorary member of the fraternity, who presided at the initiation ceremony.

He then introduced Lester Zeihen, who was the guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Zeihen described the duties of engineers and explained how they should work together toward one common goal.

Professor Scott then initiated the following pledges into the fraternity: George Maxwell, Earl Sherron, Dave Cadwell, Alex Chaky and John Chellew.

Faculty members and their guests attending were Dr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Koch, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph I. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Haynes, and Mr. Cox.

Theta Tau

Theta Tau is organizing a series of talks on professional development to be given in the near future. The speakers will be men from various fields in engineering and are sure to be interesting as well as informative. All interested students are urged to attend. The time and place of these talks will be posted on the bulletin board as soon as possible.

Plans are being made for the annual dinner-dance which is to take place within the next two weeks.

Y.A.C.A. News

The Young Adults Christian Association will hold a regular meeting on Sunday, March 22, in the fellowship hall at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 p.m. Following the business meeting and program, there will be refreshments and recreation. All Mines students, student nurses, and other young adults, ages 18 to 35, are welcome to attend all Y.A.C.A. activities.

There will be a square dance this Friday, March 20, in the Game Room at the Y.M.C.A. Dancing will be from 9-12; refreshments will be served, and a small admission will be charged. Tom Mellot is the caller for the group.

FEMALES, BEWARE!

The French government still has not revoked a royal edict issued in 1770 during the reign of Louis XV which lays down:

"Whosoever female shall draw into matrimony whosoever male subject of His Majesty by means of scent, oils, false teeth, hoops in petticoats, slippers with high heels, or of false bosoms or hips, shall be prosecuted for sorcery and the marriage shall be declared null and void."

INTERNATIONAL CLUB PLANS EASTER PARTY

On February 27, a special meeting was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kroeze. This was a combination business meeting, special election, and farewell party for the president of the club, Esfandiar Saeed, who left March 3 for his home in Teheran, Iran. Ricardo Azocar, former vice-president, became president and a special election was held to elect a new vice-president. Javaid Alvi, a senior from Pakistan, was elected to this office. After the meeting, pictures were taken for the Magma.

At this meeting, plans were made for the International Club Dance, which will be held tonight from nine to twelve in the Library-Museum Hall. Members of the Decoration Committee are Manuel Munoz, Jeannie Sigurdson, Caesar Casarotto, Manuel Galup, Jose Domingo Estay, and Dave Cadwell. Members of the Refreshment Committee are Marilex Smith, Judy Johnson, Jeannie Sigurdson, Manuel Galup, Al Mondlak, and John Chellew. Al Mondlak and John Chellew will be co-M.C.'s. The dance will be semi-formal. Dates are not necessary.

Applications for the April 30, 1959, administration of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the April 30 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 9, 1959.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Miners, Enjoying Intramural Program, Will Host Golf and Baseball Meets for the MCC

Montana School of Mines will be host school May 15 and 16 to the annual Montana Collegiate Conference baseball and golf tournament. The baseball games will be played at Duggan Memorial Park, and the golf tournament matches at the Butte Country Club and Municipal courses.

Ed Simonich, coach at the School of Mines, announced that baseball and track and field practice will start at the School of Mines on March 30. The Montana Collegiate Conference Track and Tennis meet will be held in Dillon on May 16.

An extensive intramural program is being conducted at the Mines under direction of Simonich. The volleyball, handball, table tennis and badminton playoffs will be completed by mid-April. Touchball finals will be completed just as soon as field conditions permit, and a softball tournament will be held this spring. Winners of first and second places in all intramural sports will be given awards at a convocation in May.

Following are teams and students participating in the intramural events:

Western Rules MCC Hoop Loop

Nine victories and only one loss in conference play has made the Western Montana College Bulldogs king of the hill in the Montana Collegiate Conference.

Conference action ended this week with Rocky edging Northern out of second place.

In final games, Northern of Havre dropped two road games, losing to Rocky 84-58 and Eastern Montana College, 77-74 in games in Billings. Carroll College of Helena also bowed twice on the road, losing to Montana Mines, 75-69, in Butte, and to the Western powerhouse, 90-79 in Dillon.

Western wound up with the best season's record, 21-7; Rocky has 13-8; Northern 12-7; Eastern 6-14; Carroll 6-16 and Mines 2-15.

Western and Rocky were co-champions last year.

As a result of the conference play, Western, Rocky and Northern are eligible to compete in the District 5 NAIA playoff in early March. The fourth team in the playoff is to be picked from Idaho. Final standings:

	W	L
Western	9	1
Rocky	7	3
Northern	6	4
Eastern	4	6
Carroll	2	8
Mines	2	8

Space Men Seen

On March 9 the Butte police received several calls from the vicinity of the Travona Mine Rescue Station that a group of space men have been seen in the area. Upon investigation they found that a large group of men were seen leaving the mine station with some type of mask which covered their faces and was connected to a metal container carried on their backs by two rubber tubes. The onlookers believed them to be space men with some type of breathing apparatus. The police were told the men had gone in the direction of Butte. Following a queue of small children and dogs, the police found that these Pied Pipers from outer space were in reality a group of students at the School of Mines taking a course in Mine Rescue.

"You look all in today, Bill. What's the trouble?"

Bill: "Well, I didn't get home until after daylight, and I was just undressing, when my wife woke up and said: 'Aren't you getting up pretty early, Jim?' In order to save an argument, I put on my clothes and came down to the office."

"My," sighed the wife, "don't you love to watch the sunset?"

"Why?" asked her husband without looking up from his paper. "Whats it doing now?"

Baseball to Start

Baseball practice officially starts on March 30, but anyone desiring to start practicing before then is asked to see Coach Ed Simonich in his office in the gym. The Montana Collegiate Conference Spring Carnival is being held in Butte and Dillon this year. The baseball part of the Carnival will be held on May 15, with two games in the forenoon and two in the afternoon. Golf will also be held in Butte at the Country Club. This will be the 15th and 16th of May. The tennis and track part of the carnival will be held in Dillon on the 16th of May.

Honor Players

On March 5 at 6:30, a dinner was held in honor of the football and basketball teams of the School of Mines in the residence hall on the campus. Present were the players, managers, and coach of the teams.

The dinner was held to express appreciation for the players who contributed their time and talent for the benefit of the teams. Steak was served as the main course.

Comedian Mort Sahl tells of a bank robber who went into a San Francisco bank and handed the teller a note reading, "Hand Over All Your Money; Act Normal." The teller, an intellectual, considered the note a moment, then wrote at the bottom, "What Is Your Definition of Normal?"

Doctor: "You've got to have more diversion and relaxation."

"Patient: "But I'm too busy."

Doctor: "Nonsense, the ants are hardworking creatures, but they have time to attend all the picnics."

SOME EARLY HISTORY

The Committee of Safety in Butte City was organized in the summer of 1882, when the frequency of midnight burglars and assaults of footpads indicated the camp was infested by a band of desperate robbers.

The first public school was started in the latter part of 1886; the first choral society in May of 1885.

The Stockgrowers Association was organized in June, 1885, in the Mining City.

St. James Hospital was founded in 1881 and opened by the Sisters of Charity of Fort Leavenworth in October of that year. The original building and fixtures cost $15,000 and 45 patients were cared for in 1881 and 1882.

St. Patrick Church was opened in 1866; the Episcopal Church in October, 1875. The Presbyterian Church followed in 1878.

The Silver Bow Water company was incorporated in 1881, the source of supply being Bull's Run in Brown's gulch.

Donnell, Clark and Larabie of Deer Lodge established a branch of their banking house in Butte in 1877, under the management of W. A. Clark. They erected a building at the southwest corner of Main and Broadway.

Masquers to Play Man and Superman

The Convocations Committee is sponsoring the Montana State University presentation of the Montana Masquers in Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman" here March 31 at 8:15 in the Library-Museum Hall. There is no admission charge.

"Man and Superman" is a comedy and philosophy with promise of many good laughs for the audience. Shaw's philosophy of life is threaded into the play and appeals to all audiences.

The Masquers, student drama group at the University in Missoula are making their fifth annual tour of the state. They will open their tour in Sunburst and will play in Shelby, Havre, Big Sandy, Billings, Miles City, Bozeman and Butte.

The Masquer organization includes students from several departments of the University. Acting at MSU is open to all students, not just those majoring in drama.

The Masquers have been planning this tour since the first of school last fall. Rehearsals began during February and by the opening performance, March 20, a professional performance is promised.

E-DAY SHOTS

"What kind of ice cream do you have?" he asked the pretty waitress.

The young lady answered in a horse whisper: "Vanilla, Strawberry and Chocolate."

The customer trying to be sympathetic, asked: "You got laryngitis?"

"No," she rasped, "just vanilla, strawberry and chocolate."

She was quite a success as a bubble dancer, until her career blew up in her face.

Libby: "Did you see that lovely Russian Count?"

Dave: "Is that an accomplishment for a grown man?"

Jerry: "Have you a second to spare?"

Biglow: "Yes."

Jerry: "Tell me all you know."
